One-on-one interaction between international students and volunteers

Mitsui V-Net introduces exchange volunteers who engage in one-on-one interactions with international students, fostering mutual understanding.

Volunteers provide advice on daily life in Japan, support in learning Japanese, and share insights into Japanese culture, society, traditions, and customs.

In return, volunteers learn from the international students about their home countries—their cultures, lifestyles, and languages.

Through these exchanges, both volunteers and international students aim to:

- Learn from each other,
- Deepen mutual understanding, and
- Build relationships of mutual support.
